

JIAS

Actuvirtual Symposium at the Johannesburg Institute for Advanced Study

Colonialism and “Restitution”

This Actuvirtual Symposium is committed to the call for “restitution” of artworks that were plundered during colonialism. Is “restitution” of art and human remains on display or stored away in museums, research institutions or private collections in western Europe and north America a testing ground for the “good life” and relations in an unknown future? How are we to be answerable for the colonial destruction of ecological life forms, annihilations and erasure of histories? How are we to understand restitution in the neoliberal digit(al) age?

DATE ▪ 27 May 2021

TIME ▪ 16:00 – 18:00 (SAST)

RSVP on <https://forms.gle/xbyHeA9rV2pCq2EC6> to receive the Zoom details.

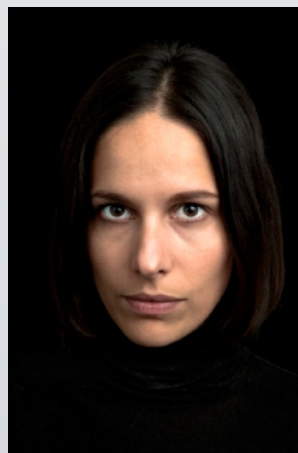

Email vanessak@uj.ac.za if you encounter any problems.

CHAIR
Fazil Moradi
JIAS, LOST, Sci-Tech Asia

Monica Hanna
*College of Archaeology
and Cultural Heritage, AASTMT*

Noral Al-Badri
*Multi-disciplinary and conceptual
media artist*

Luisa Mohr
University of Bayreuth

Wendy Shaw
Free University of Berlin

Ciraj Rassool
University of the Western Cape