

JIAS

Actuvirtual Symposium at the Johannesburg Institute for Advanced Study

What does genocide/femicide teach us?

How can we learn about the genocides/femicides of the modern/colonial state? What can critical thinking teach us about histories of genocidal/femicidal violence in the United States and other parts of the world? This Actuvirtual Symposium is committed to Alexander L. Hinton's book, It Can Happen Here: White Power and the Rising Threat of Genocide in the US (NYU Press 2021).

DATE ▪ 29 November 2021

TIME ▪ 17:00 – 19:00 (SAST)

RSVP on <https://forms.gle/qJUyWvpSDawuwgo39> to receive the Zoom details.

Email vanessak@uj.ac.za if you encounter any problems.

CHAIR
Fazil Moradi
(PhD)
JIAS, LOST,
Sci-Tech Asia

Kamari Maxine
Clarke
University of Toronto

Alexander L. Hinton
Rutgers
University

Roxanne
Dunbar-Ortiz
Professor Emeritus,
California State University

A. Dirk Moses
University of North Carolina

Uğur Ümit Üngör
University of Amsterdam
& the NIOD Institute for War, Holocaust
and Genocide Studies.